Armed Robbery At Carmangay

Woman Hit On Head- No Arrests

There was great excitement at Carmangay on Friday night when it was found that not only had an attempt been made to rob the post office but two bandits, masked and armed with revolver attacked Mrs. S. Lawrence wife of the postmaster, hitting her over the head with a revolver.

The Lawrences came home from the show, entered their house and were standing around in the kitchen Mrs. Lawrence was in the sitting room when two masked men came out of a bedroom and said stick 'em up knocked Mrs. Lawrence on the head and rushed out of the door. The men had ransacked the house and took away with them about $75 a ring and a suit coat. They had not been able to find a key to fit the post office door or that would have been rifled as well. No trace of the intruders has been found.

Mr. Lawrence gave chase when the pair darted out of the kitchen door but lost the men in the darkness.

Mr and Mrs Lawrence make their home in the building which houses the post office. On their return home, Mrs. Lawrence went into the kitchen where the three children were while Mr. Lawrence went to the front of the house to lock up for the night.

After he had passed the two thugs, who had been hiding in a bedroom, dashed out into the kitchen with the above result.

Mr. Lawrence is paymaster for a number of grain elevators in the district and apparently the thugs planned to steal the payroll locked in safe.

A. J. Long Obtains Advanced Registry for Sow

The highest test which can be passed under the direction of the provincial and Dominion departments of Agriculture live stock branch has been secured by A. J. Long well known local farmer for one of his pure bred sows. It has passed the advanced registry test and there has been only 9 sows in Alberta pass this test in past 6 months. The aim of the department is to secure a high quality stock among the farmers and thus not only gradually improve the stock in the Dominion but bring the market products up to the standard demanded by overseas buyers.

Mr. Long's registered sow went through the various tests which included tests for the litter of 8 pigs which all stood up, high mark being obtained. By improving his stock in this way Mr. Long is bringing prominence to this district and of course enhancing his own financial resources by maintaining high quality strains of pure bred swine.

Is Santa Claus Coming

With only a few days left until Christmas the most joyous of all days in the year a few more hints on that event, might be in order. It is often said that Christmas is the Children's day for it is then that Santa Claus visits the home and rewards those who have been good boys and girls throughout the year and unless we are very much mistaken, Good old Santa remembers the older folk too.

Listening over the radio the other night to one of these "family stories" we caught the spirit of the play when an open Christmas dinner was planned. By this we mean that each member of the family was to think of someone else who was in need of friendship and either invite them to the home on Christmas day or see that Christmas came to the home of that individual. In the latter case no public mention was to be made of the home visited, the member of the family reporting at the dinner table before the turkey was carved that he or she had remembered someone else. We felt that this was a splendid idea. In Champion, Carmangay and Barons there are many newcomers during the past year. These people should be invited in, to the Christmas and New Years dinner.

Do not make excuses for yourself by stating "why Mrs. so and so is a particular friend of the Jones, she will be inviting the Jones." Be the first to invite the new comer and if the contact has been made already your conscience is at least clear.

The other point of course is that no matter how large a family you have at your dinner there is always a little over which can be sent to those less fortunate. Send a little of the plum pudding to Mrs. Jones even if it is late at night. If they have been remembered previously they can always use the eatables and the very fact that that you thought of them will make the household happy.

Does War Mean This To Us

In the current issue of a Toronto paper an item appears in which a reporter tells of his experience in meeting a Finnish girl and we have taken the liberty of not only reprinting the article but changing it to fit into a local case. Names are naturally omitted but most people will know whom we refer to.

There is a pleasant, pretty girl in a printing office which we frequent who could pass anywhere as a Canadian. She is perhaps blonder than most Canadian girls, but she speaks English as well as we do. We were chatting to her about the war the other day and she remarked casually that she has five uncles in the Finnish Army. Five—count them—five. She was hoping that the Russian peril would pass, but now her native country is in the midst of it and she has five uncles who are now, or are likely too soon to be, in the firing line.

That is what war means in a European country where every able bodied man becomes automatically, a soldier when peace fades. It is a very different thing from the war in Canada, where men enlist if they feel like it and when they do enlist have every confidence that nothing terrible can happen to their homes and loved ones that they leave behind when they join the regiment. What European soldier whose home is within bombing distance of an enemy can feel that? He must know that his mother or his daughter is in as grave danger as himself.

No European country has been less offensive to her neighbors than has Finland, which lived more than a century under the heel of the Czarist Regime of Russia. She was no more of a menace to the giant next door than the County of York is to the state of the same name. She was not groaning under any capitalist yoke. She was a free, decent, self-respecting nation. It is so hoped that when war ends the menace that Russia represents will be equally abolished with that which we call Hitlerism.

In a letter to Clark Rhodes secretary of the Red Cross with a donation mention is made of the sincere appreciation of the sisters of Nels Johnson for all who participated in the funeral of their brother Nels Johnson.

The letter states in part in our great sorrow there is a certain comfort to know that all of you good people at Champion showed your respect to Nels. Mr Wellman tells us about the funeral. A bother could not be better to us and we just wanted you to know our appreciation for all that the good friends did. Johnson sisters, per Sophie.

Possibilities of New Wheat Uses

Anyone interested in seeing beautiful ladies clothed in dresses made of skim milk and shapely limbs covered with stockings made from coal, air and water automobile bodies made from plastics derived from soy beans and wood; and many other wonders of scientific research may do so now by calling at the Champion Chronicle office. We have just received from the Local Line Elevators a copy of the National Geographic Magazine, containing an illustrated article dealing with the latest discoveries of science. The Line Elevator Companies, through the North West Grain Dealers' Association, are advocating the establishment of the Western Division of the National Research Council. In this laboratory scientist would seek to find new industrial uses for wheat in order to expand the markets for this cereal. They contend that wider markets would mean a better price for the farmer. After observing the progress made in finding new uses for soy beans, corn and other products of the land, depicted in the National Geographic, one cannot but feel that the Dominion Government should take early action in setting up a wheat research laboratory in the West.
